THE SPIRIT OF THE ERIE CANAL

The Erie Canal opened in 1825, connecting the Great Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean by way of the Hudson River. When the plan for the Canal was presented, skeptics never thought it would materialize. They jokingly referred to it as “Clinton’s Big Ditch” after the New York State governor who championed the project. But when it was filled with water, the Big Ditch changed Western New York forever.

The Big Ditch remains a part of us today. We still embody the spirit of the workers that built the Canal with their bare hands. Our Lockport Tap Room is proud to serve Western New Yorkers with beer that is brewed with the same strength, pride and ambition that created the Erie Canal nearly two centuries ago.

Made from the best ingredients available, and crafted with just the right balance of art and science, Big Ditch beers are innovative, flavorful and drinkable...glass after glass.
